HAS YOUR SOFTWARE AGED? WE SUPPORT AND RENEW

LEGACY SYSTEMS

Our specialty is the detachment, further development and support of outdated applications. Many companies still use old systems that continue to be crucial for everyday business. Due to code basis and functionalities, updates and modifications will become ever more time consuming. The integration or connection with other platforms are often complex, and security is difficult to guarantee, especially in comparison to modern systems.

Moreover, the knowhow regarding these older technologies becomes increasingly scarce. One becomes dependent on the few experts possessing that specific knowledge.

We can reduce this dependency with our expertise.

In order to limit the continuing dependency, risks and high costs for maintenance and support, we will help you get rid of these costly legacy systems. Whether we have to develop new solutions, optimise old applications, build web applications with databases or program interfaces, we will find the suitable solution!
